COUN 580 – ST/SCHOOL COUNSELING AND ACADEMIC ACHIEVEMENT
(CRN: 43558 / 2 credits)
Offered: Jun 23 & 24, Thursday & Friday (0800 – 1800)
Designed to provide school counselors with models and strategies for fulfilling the following roles in the implementation of the Academic Development Domain of the ASCA National Model: 1. Individual and group counseling for academic achievement, 2. Parent/teacher consultation, 3. Leadership in/of school improvement teams. Emphasis will be on the application of the Transtheoretical Model of Change and Motivational Interviewing to these three roles.

COUN 580 – ST/BULLYING
(CRN: 43731 / 1 credit)
Offered: Jul 5 & 6, Wednesday (1700 – 2100) & Thursday (0830 – 1630)
This course addresses the multiple aspects of bullying and peer abuse in schools. Topics addressed include: types of bullying; bullying tactics; predisposing factors to bullying behavior; prevention measures; gender differences; and the physical, emotional, spiritual, social, and intellectual effects of bullying and peer abuse.

COUN 580 – ST/GRIEF AND LOSS
(CRN: 43732 / 1 credit)
Offered: Jul 6 & 7, Thursday (1700 – 2100) & Friday (0830 – 1630)
The practice of grief and loss counseling is based on an in depth understanding of the process of grieving and its manifestations while utilizing skills in assessment and intervention. Childhood, adolescence, adulthood and old age, as distinct life stages, require different approaches to assessment and treatment of grief reactions. Cultural differences have a major impact on the process and the outcome of grief work; these differences will be explored so that students may work with bereaved clients from different backgrounds in a wide range of settings. Exploration of the counselor’s own responses and reactions to grief work will be examined by the student in depth.

COUN 580 – ST/CRISIS AND TRAUMA
(CRN: 43733 / 1 credit)
Offered: Jul 7 & 8, Friday (1700 – 2100) & Saturday (0830 – 1630)
The study of crisis intervention at both the individual and organizational levels. Theory and practice will be the course foci.
